A back office is a part of most corporations where tasks dedicated to running the company itself take place. Examples of back-office tasks include IT departments that keep the phones and computers running, accounting, and human resources. These tasks are often supported by back office systems: secure e-commerce software that processes company information (i.e. a database). A back office system will keep a record of the company's sales and purchase transactions, and update the inventory as needed. Invoices, receipts, and reports can also be produced by the back office system. GSTi offers you a complete back office solution for your enterprise, which fulfills your company's financial, payroll, and human resources requirements.
